

Theorizer:

You're one of the most, um, particular humans I know. I figure "particular" sounds nicer than "hateful". What about the industry or skateboarding in general gets you so fired up?

PS:

Well i hate how 90 percent of all skateboarding is fake and i hate how all the magazines support it and it just keeps going. Not that im the realest dude out but shit atleast im not driving to carlsbad or el toro still trying to claim some fame. Kirchart lipslid el toro like 20 years ago, leave it alone now no one cares. And Penny sw f/s flipped carlsbad soo long ago i don't really wanna see that school in videos anymore. Its kind of boring watching a part where its just 3 second clips of some angle looking up at a giant grass gap or Hollywood High. People say "well its progression" ...well it's still boring! I've become numb to whether it's a nollie heel crook or if it was nollie hell nose. It's impressive but still boring. Theres always an exception to the rule though.

Theorizer:
Like...?

PS:

Obviously there're some people that skate rails and gaps and its legit cause they do it with taste and it looks good it's all about trick selection for the spot and if the right dude is doing a weird trick at the right spot it works so you can get away with anything also if it's something out of the skaters normal element its always legit like if gino has a rail photo even if its a boardslide it's sick cause noones really seen him on a rail before.

Theorizer:

Name 5 skaters you grew up being the most psyched on while growing up and then the 5 skaters that sorta developed into being your standard favorites now you've been skating a long time.

PS:

Reynolds was the first cause he's from lakeland and he's one of those exceptions like i mentioned earlier he can get away with shit cause he just looks good on a skateboard. As i skated more and more i got more picky...def mariano cause thats just obvious then Oyola and Puleo. Ummmm Pappalardo, Busenitz, Carroll, O'Connor, Renaud.

Theorizer:

Ok, this is gay, but it's my first interview so chill....I'm gonna say a word and you tell me the first thing that comes to mind, alright?.....So, first word....."pop".

PS:

Tart

Theorizer:

No, I wanted skateboard references...you should've said "Henry Panza".

PS: But I'm hungry.

Theorizer:

Fine...ok, next....."Tampa"

PS:

Trife

Theorizer:

hate

PS:

everyday

Theorizer:

Ok, this sucks...let's end this thing. Describe for us a normal day in Tampa for Pat Stiener and his band of thieves.

PS:

Wake up around 1, go to the park, eat some shitty snackbar food, complain about everything, skate flat, more food, poker, then maybe get involved in some mischevious night life scene.

Theorizer:

Boo...?

PS:

"New Birthday" or "New Event" on MySpace, spot rape, spending all my money on gas.

Theorizer:

Woo....?

PS:

The casino's money, Fazoli's, spot rape.....

Theories 